Postal Talks Poles Apart

POSTAL WORKERS ACCEPT IMPASSE

TIMMINS, Ont. (CP) — The postal strike ended briefly here Wednesday night.

The announcer on a television news show said negotiations in Ottawa had reached an impasse.

Jubilant strikers dropped their signs and stopped picketing the post office.

Firemen from a nearby station joined them.

A few pedestrians tried to get into the post office to collect their mail.

Then a union strike leader arrived and explained that impasse meant deadlock—not settlement.

Picketing resumed.

Revised Government Offer Is Rejected By The Union

OTTAWA (CP) — The postal strike began its third week today with settlement more remote than ever after the collapse of mediation talks Wednesday.

A revised government wage offer was rejected and a deadlock in negotiations was reported by Judge Rene Lippe, the federal mediator, who warned:

"We are faced with a serious situation."

Just a few hours earlier Prime Minister Trudeau had told a news conference that Parliament would be called to deal with the situation only if the postal workers' right to strike was used with "irresponsibility" and the hardship on the public became too great.

There was no immediate reaction from Mr. Trudeau after the announcement that mediation efforts had reached an impasse. One informant said the prime minister probably would take a couple of days to assess the prospects for new talks.

Both sides issued statements revealing they remain poles apart on wages and working conditions. But they also expressed hope that new talks can be arranged.

Mediation broke down after the Council of Postal Unions rejected a revised wage offer of a 19-per-cent increase applied in three stages over 38 months.

The unions refused to budge from their original 29-per-cent demand over 14 months, retroactive to Aug. 1 of last year.

Average postal pay is $2.57 an hour. Top rates are $2.75 for postal clerks and $2.63 for letter carriers.

The original government offer, made two days before the strike began July 18, was for six per cent over 14 months, equal to 15 cents an hour. The union demand works out to 75 cents an hour.

Wednesday's wage offer by the government was for an increase of 7 1/2 per cent retroactive to Aug. 1 of last year, another 6 1/2 per cent on Oct. 1 this year and a final five per cent Oct. 1 next year.

It was similar to an offer made successfully last month in the St. Lawrence Seaway strike. The seaway workers went back to work for 19 per cent over 36 months.

In rejecting the government proposal the unions termed it "unrealistic" but made no counter-offer.

The union statement said it was "a weak attempt by the government to saddle the postal workers with a three-year contract despite legislation which requires any agreement signed at this time to terminate Sept. 30, 1968."

Ruling Sought By Post Office

OTTAWA (CP) — The post office department has asked the justice department for a ruling on whether private delivery services supplanting striking postal workers are legal, a spokesman said today.

He said he understood the Council of Postal Unions also has asked for such a ruling.

The post office request was made early last week and the justice department since has asked for more information on which to reach its decision, the spokesman said. He could not say when the ruling would be made.

The postmaster-general has a legal monopoly on the right to collect, transport and deliver letters.

But there is some doubt on the precise definition of a letter—and on whether the monopoly applies when the postmaster-general is unable to exercise it.

The right covers only first-class mail, excluding magazines and newspapers, advertising materials and parcel post.

Other Countries To Join New Czech-Soviet Talks

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia have agreed to discuss the Czechoslovak situation with other Communist countries beginning Saturday in the Slovakian city of Bratislava, a communiqué said today.

The meeting will be attended by the Communist parties of Bulgaria, Hungary, East Germany, Poland, the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia, the communiqué said.

The Soviet-Czechoslovak talks, which began Monday at a Czechoslovak railway town near the Soviet border, were "held in an atmosphere of complete frankness, sincerity and mutual understanding," the communiqué said.

The meeting had been "a broad comradely exchange of opinion on questions of interest to both sides," the communiqué said.

It "was aimed at the search for ways of further developing and strengthening the traditional friendly relations" between the Soviet and Czechoslovak Communist parties and peoples, the communiqué added.

But the communiqué did not indicate what—if anything—was decided about ways of improving relations. Relations had deteriorated into open Soviet hostility—backed by military maneuvering on the Czechoslovakian borders—over the Liberal course of Prague Communist leader Alexander Dubcek.

Moscow beat Prague to the punch in issuing the communiqué. It was released by the Soviet agency Tass while the Czechoslovak news agency was saying only that the Cerna meeting had ended and that a communiqué would be issued later.

'COMRADELY EXCHANGE'

The communiqué said the talks had been "a broad comradely exchange of opinion on questions of interest to both sides."

The five parties that will meet with Czechoslovak leaders Saturday are the ones that met in Warsaw in mid-July to condemn Czechoslovak liberalization. Dubcek refused to attend that meeting.

Cong Inflict Heavy Losses On S. Vietnam Companies

SAIGON (AP) — A Communist force inflicted heavy casualties of 16 killed and 39 wounded on two companies of South Vietnamese irregulars led by U.S. Green Beret men in a battle close to the Cambodian border, the Saigon government reported today.

South Vietnamese headquarters said only four Communist bodies were found after the hard battle Wednesday 65 miles northwest of Saigon on one of the guerrilla routes from the Cambodian border to the capital.

In another critical sector, the defense of South Vietnam's northern frontier was stiffened by 4,000 fresh American troops. A U.S. command spokesman said the troops were immediately deployed to positions below the eastern end of the demilitarized zone.

Initial reports indicated the government force was ambushed, although military spokesmen did not say so. They said two companies of irregulars—perhaps 200 men or more—clashed with a force of unknown size along the border. The spokesman said the government troops destroyed 150 fortified positions in the battle area.

Tay Ninh province, where the battle occurred, is believed to be the major staging area for the big Communist offensive which allied intelligence men expect the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese to launch against Saigon in the next two months.

Trail Eliminates Kelowna From Little League Playoffs

FRUITVALE — Kelowna Little League All-Stars learned Wednesday if they were going to hand out lumps they would have to expect a few in return.

In their second game of the day, the Okanagan crew bowled 6-0 to Trail as Dennis Lemoine pitched a no-hitter for the winners, the only one of the playoffs.

Kelowna got into the final by eliminating Kamloops with three explosive innings on their way to the biggest win margin of the competition, 17-5.

Back-to-back homers by Darrell Fox, a three-run shot, and a solo blast by Cal Cooper, his second of the tournament, sparked Kelowna to a 5-0 first inning lead. Gene Weninger, Peter Walker and Brian August also scored.

Kamloops tied it in the fifth with four runs after getting one in the third. Fox came in to relieve starter Jack Knothulzen and was staked to a seven-run lead in the bottom of the fourth.

Twelve batters went to the plate and Bill Sullivan, Weninger, Walker, Fox, August, Tony Sawyer and Bill Clerk all scored. Clerk's double led the four-hit attack.

Costa Rica Volcano Erupts Again Killing 8 Persons

SAN JOSE (Reuters) — The killer Arenal volcano claimed eight more lives Wednesday as a new eruption three days after devastating a wide area of northeastern Costa Rica.

The latest victims were on patrol in two jeeps looking for survivors of Monday's eruption, which killed at least 100 persons and possibly 200.

Complete death and injury tolls of both eruptions were not immediately available because of the remoteness of the area, 110 miles northwest of San Jose, tated an area two miles wide.

The patrol victims were and four miles long with lava, burst to steam by volcanic ash gases and twisters.

BY NORTH VIETNAMESE

Johnson Warns Of Red Attack

WASHINGTON (CP-AP) — President Johnson said Wednesday the U.S. can expect a massive attack by the Communists in South Vietnam and possible "dire economic consequences" at home over a steel price increase.

The president told a news conference that he is discouraged over the infiltration and troop buildup by North Vietnam in the South and lack of response, so far, to the limiting of U.S. bombing in the North to below the 20th parallel.

The North Vietnamese claim that although the bombing area in the North has been reduced the number of U.S. missions has increased.

Johnson cautioned Hanoi that the U.S. might have to act promptly with additional military measures if they "put our men in danger." He did not spell out what those measures might be.

But just hours after Johnson's statement, 4,000 fresh U.S. troops arrived in South Vietnam to raise the number of American military personnel in South Vietnam to about 540,000—still below the 549,500 ceiling set by the Pentagon after the Communist Tet offensive in February.

In his comments on the steel price-raising, the president criticized Bethlehem Steel Corp. for its announced five-per-cent across-the-board price increase effective Aug. 8, the first such blanket price increase in the industry since President John F. Kennedy's intervention with Big Steel in 1962, when prices were raised by U.S. Steel and then resounded.

The inflationary consequences of such an increase, Johnson said, could cost consumers $500,000,000 a year if the rest of the steel industry followed suit. "Inflation for steel is inflation for the nation," the president said.

The price boost came before representatives of industry and the United Steelworkers Union could sign a new labor contract expected to raise wages and fringe benefits by at least six per cent a year during the next three years.

Johnson called the settlement high. Pointing to a 41-per-cent first half increase in profits for Bethlehem Steel, the No. 2 U.S. producer, Johnson said "the public interest must be recognized by the entire industry in its price decisions at this critical time."

Johnson also discussed the preliminary peace talks in Paris and efforts toward a missile disarmament conference with the Soviet Union.

On Paris, he said: "We continue to hope for the best." Johnson said he had de-explained the bombing of North Vietnam and he wanted to give the other side all the time necessary to consider a response. But, he went on, "I cannot order the cessation of further unilateral acts of bombing of the infiltration routes."

I just cannot step aside and leave our men in the lurch."

On missile disarmament, the president reported he expects agreement "in a reasonably short time" on the place and date to start talks on the limitation of offensive and defensive nuclear weapons.

Pollution To Be Main Topic At Next Premiers' Conference

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — Pollution will be British Columbia's number one topic at the next federal-provincial leaders' conference, Premier W. A. C. Bennett said Wednesday.

"We think the federal government should put up the capital costs for pollution treatment, not us," he told a news conference.

The premier said he will ask the federal government to make loans with lower than normal government interest rates available to all municipalities needing treatment plants.

Mr. Bennett said pollution is one of the most serious problems facing Canada and he blamed the federal government for laxity in fighting it.

No date has been set for the next federal-provincial conference, but he expects it will be held in the fall.

Mr. Bennett made his remarks aboard a special Pacific Great Eastern Railway train bound for Prince George and Port St. James where he will open a 78-mile rail extension between the two centres today.

Port St. James is 350 air miles north of Vancouver.

Dr. Strand Named SFU President

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dr. Kenneth Strand, 37, took over as acting president of strife-torn Simon Fraser University in suburban Burnaby today.

The young economist's appointment was ratified by the board of governors Wednesday night after it was recommended earlier in the day by a 157 to 3 vote of the faculty.

A student committee that was to present its choice for a new acting president also endorsed Dr. Strand's nomination but only after successfully demanding that he agree to conditions aimed at giving students a greater voice in the SFU government.

Dr. Strand outlined student demands at a news conference. They included: —His immediate resignation if a properly-called meeting of all faculty votes no-confidence in him.

—A six-man student-faculty committee be set up to advise him.

—That his maximum term be 12 months and that a permanent president be named at any time to replace him.

Pollution Hearing Just Futile Effort

The president of the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce today described Monday's inquiry on pollution as "an exercise in futility."

Bruce Winsby was reporting at an executive meeting on the hour-long inquiry here, called by the Pollution Control Board.

He said the Pollution Control Act may require only five days notice be given of an inquiry, but that was not sufficient time to permit anyone to prepare a brief or a good oral presentation. There was misunderstanding too, because of a lack of information on what information the board wanted, he said.

Gordon Hirtle said now is the time to define the word pollution and its danger to health, which seems to depend on interpretation. He said there must be acts which define the word and the chamber should have copies.

E. S. Dickens said the Pollution Control Board should define the word, or consult with medical health officer Dr. D. A. Clarke. He said the chamber's role is finished, having aroused interest to the point where action is being taken.

Jack Gerein suggested a scientific measurement be obtained first, to be measured against the standard when obtained.

The chamber will obtain copies of the University of British Columbia report of tests made on the Okanagan Lake watershed and released Friday. The chamber will also get a copy of Dr. Clarke's brief on pollution and discuss the topic again in two weeks.

Mr. Winsby said if only one body (the Pollution Control Board) is to handle pollution, what is to become of the proposed Okanagan Water Basin Board as proposed by Ray Willison, minister of lands, forests and water resources?

Roads To Resort Areas To Be Checked By Chamber

A lake resort operator in the Kelowna district, has expressed concern to the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce that private investments will be lost if the government continues its policy of building roads to lakes in forest areas and campsites.

One operator said he had a $90,000 investment on one lake-shore and if the government built roads and a campsite, he would lose his money.

K. F. Harding said the government should not proceed in direct opposition to private enterprise without first giving the resort owner the opportunity of taking out a campsite permit himself.

R. E. Nourse, assistant chamber manager, said he understood resort operators did not want to operate a campsite. They felt running a fishing resort kept them busy enough and a small lake was no place for high-powered motors and water skiers. He said operators were banding together to resist the move.

Some members felt if the operators don't want to run a campsite, they can't blame the government for opening them. Gordon Hirtle said there is talk of a forestry road from the Kettle Valley to Big White and maybe the chamber should look into the reason and the forestry policy in general.

The role of the chamber may be to see rules are made which would prevent exploitation of small lakes. A representative of the resort operators will be asked to attend a chamber meeting and explain the problem.

Courtesy Parking Tickets Might Face Elimination

Visitors breaking traffic rules in Kelowna may soon find themselves with a $2.50 traffic ticket on their windshield instead of a current courtesy ticket.

Courtesy tickets are placed on out-of-province cars, informing the driver a traffic rule has been broken. There is no fine.

The city's traffic advisory committee has recommended courtesy tickets be abandoned because they are not given to in-province visitors. The reason for this is the difficulty of identifying a car from another part of the province.

E. S. Dickens, the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce representative on the advisory committee, said the suggestion has been made, instead of courtesy tickets, signs explaining the traffic rules in the city, be erected near the chamber information booths.

President Bruce Winsby said, Kelowna has a "freak" situation, where there are no parking metres but a fine for parking over one hour on main streets, a policy which could confuse tourists.

"The situation is 'unique' not 'freak,'" said Mr. Dickens. Hector Turvey, head of the Kelowna Retail Merchants Association, said something has to be done, either explanatory signs at the east and west entrances to the city, or a sign above the one-hour parking sign on streets, warning of the penalty fine.

The chamber will look into the matter and report at a future meeting.

THE VALLEY SCENE

Distant visitors to Kelowna from Alaska and the Yukon had two comments about the city Wednesday. "Your weather is great, doesn't the sun ever stop?" And, "If the lake is polluted I can't see anything wrong."

Typical visitor comments from what has turned into a traditional sunny Okanagan summer.

The Kelowna boys club reports today, although it has been active in the past month preparing for the Regatta. Open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., club members Monday will be selling Regatta programs. More than 4,000 programs have been sold by the boys in previous years.

The club is open until Aug. 15 riding club, Gordon Road. Aug. 15 and is closed until Sept. 3, when the regular schedule, 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. and 6.30 to 10 p.m., will, week.

resume. Herb Sullivan will head the program drive.

John Balfour and his horse fell sideways together at the Kelowna Riding Club Fun Night Wednesday. They were taking part in a stake race and turned a corner too sharply and slid in the sand. The rider took a few minutes to get his wind back, but remounted and the game continued. The horse wasn't bothered at all.

Kelowna Riding Club members who have not got their entry forms to Vernon yet for the upcoming show there, may take them to Alf Fletcher who will do postal duty.

Dressage lessons start at 7 riding club, Gordon Road. Aug. 15 and is closed until Sept. 3, when the regular schedule, 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. and 6.30 to 10 p.m., will, week.

Windows Get Color For Regatta

At least six Kelowna merchants will not be liable this year to the criticism that the city's businesses do not take an active enough part in the Regatta.

These six will be vying for two $50 first prizes for the best decorated window displays, a contest arranged for the first time this year by Hee Turvey, chairman of the Kelowna Retail Merchants' Association. Others are expected to promise colorful windows with a Regatta theme before entry deadline Friday.

Two prizes will be offered, one for stores with 10 or less employees and another for businesses with more than 10 employees. Judging the event will be the public, and three other people, as yet unidentified.

"Several banks and some stores are entered so far," Mr. Turvey said Wednesday.

"We're hoping to have quite a few more before Friday."

He blamed the lagging entries on the mail strike. "It wasn't publicized as well as it might have been," he said.

City Park Stays Dry

There will be no Bavarian Beer Garden at this year's Regatta, Murray Joyce, chairman of the Kelowna International Regatta Association, announced Wednesday.

Failure to obtain the necessary liquor permit has led to cancellation of the planned beer garden, which was to have remained open for one day during the Regatta.

Proposed by Frank Addison, chairman of the special events committee, the idea was vetoed by RCMP Staff Sergeant K. A. Attree. Earlier, the B.C. Liquor Control Board gave the go-ahead to the beer garden as long as the RCMP would approve.

The Regatta association had hoped to enclose an area near the beer garden in the City Park and provide beer for 50 tents and Bavarian-style entertainment with an orchestra. The beer garden might have been opened for four days during ensuing Regattas if this year's operation was a success.

District Water Situation Good

There appears to be no water shortage in the Kelowna area this year.

Okanagan Lake almost reached maximum storage capacity, with a level of 102.37 July 5. The agreed maximum level is 102.5.

The lake has been dropping steadily since that date and Tuesday had reached 102.02 at the Kelowna recording station.

Officials at the water rights branch in Kelowna say the drop will continue until September and will remain constant from October to March, when a rise begins again.

Tom Carter, manager of the Southeast Kelowna Irrigation District, says there is sufficient irrigation water for the season without the need of restrictions. Excess water is pouring over the spillways at reservoirs he said.

The more than adequate supply, following earlier fears of water shortages, has been attributed to "an almost phenomenal" rainfall.

Since May 1, seven inches of rain has fallen. Total average for the 12-month period is about 12 inches, which includes snowfall.

Mr. Carter said the next two weeks is the peak demand period, but the season should end with a surplus, a carry-over for next season.

Regatta Booklets For $1 Save Money At City Park

Kelowna is under siege and the blitzkrieg could blanket the entire city.

By the time Ald. Thomas Angus has conducted his sale of Regatta passes, scheduled to start Friday, it could lead to annihilation of a different kind. Every conscientious objector at this year's Regatta will be drafted.

Mr. Angus' blitz of the business community will be a five-day drive, extending from Friday through Wednesday. Twenty people will be employed the first night working in pairs. The two-hour drive, which starts at 7 p.m., will see sellers stationed at the following corner: Post office, Long's, Fumerton's, Marshall Wells, Woolworth's and Bank of Montreal.

Two people will be positioned at the door going into Super Valu, Safeway and Shop Easy at Capri. A pair will cover the walkways and the Hudson Bay.

The blitz continues Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Monday and Tuesday at each of the first six places mentioned.

Twenty people from Teen Town will cover the crowd parade night, Wednesday, on both sides of the street from Richter Street to the park entrance. Twenty sellers will canvass retail merchants in the business section.

The books of passes sell for $1 each, and contain a ticket for each day of the Regatta. Otherwise, single admissions to the City Park will be 50 cents daily.

Kelowna Boys Club Program Explained To Chest Directors

Herb Sullivan, executive director of the Kelowna Boys' Club was a guest of directors of the Community Chest at their regular monthly meeting recently and spoke to them of the operation of the club.

Mr. Sullivan said the Kelowna Boys Club had its beginnings in 1958 with a survey being sponsored by the Kinsmen's Club, the RCMP, and other interested citizens. Its purpose is to provide a place of their own for sports or other activities for all boys in the community from 8 to 18 years of age. Memberships are $1 per year and the average membership remains at about 400 boys.

Members come and go and are free to participate in their own club or organized programs as they wish. Activities in which members have participated during the past year include the painting of the club house, swim session track meet, fitness tests, table tennis, weight lifting, wood work, oil painting, camera sessions, art classes, wood lathes, rock hounds, fly tying, auto mechanics, Red Cross publicity, Regatta program sales, and bingo preparations.

An important result of the operation of the club is the emergence of leaders from among boys of all ages. This is particularly evident in the relationships of the older boys with the younger ones and is always encouraged, not only in the interests of the boys themselves, but as a means of assisting in the operation of the club.

An average of from 60 to 75 boys per day take advantage of the facilities offered in the club house at 346 Lawrence Ave. during the six afternoons and five evenings per week of its operation.

The boys club is a member of the Community Chest.

Fire Chief Seeks Help

Two grass fires were reported in the Kelowna area in the past 14 hours.

Both occurred in about the same location on Knox Mountain, near Monterey Crescent. The first fire was reported at 6:40 a.m. Wednesday. The other call came at 8 a.m. today. There was no damage.

Fire Chief C. A. Pettman today urged parents to control their children in the use of matches, as this has been the cause of several recent fires.

"Children must be cautioned in their use of matches, particularly when the wind blows, as small fires can get out of hand," Mr. Pettman said.

Gifts Given For Service

O. St. P. Aitkens and L. G. Butler, two directors retiring from the Board of Okanagan Holdings Ltd., were honored at a small luncheon at Mountain Shadows Wednesday.

Mr. Butler had been a director of the company since 1957 while Mr. Aitkens had been associated with the Okanagan group of companies since 1912.

Mr. Aitkens came to Canada and Kelowna in 1909, joining the Bank of Montreal staff here. After three years he accepted a position with the Okanagan group and remained with it for 54 years, becoming manager, president and subsequently chairman of the board.

Bruce Smith on behalf of the company presented Mr. Butler with an inscribed silver cigarette box and Mr. Aitkens with a set of golf clubs and bag.

Problems Certainly Exist But Representation Later

The Kelowna Chamber of Commerce decided at an executive meeting today, not to interfere in the postal strike, in spite of a feeling of concern.

President Bruce Winsby raised the issue and said he thought some representation should be made to the B.C. Chamber of Commerce to counteract the lack of concern as reflected in press stories. He said he was surprised the Canadian Chamber had not taken a stand.

S. A. Hodge said people may have found alternative methods of getting important mail out, but a problem did exist, a "th - - of a problem, let's face it."

Mr. Winsby thought if people showed their concern, those working for a settlement might increase their efforts.

"We should tread softly here," said past president K. F. Harding.

He said the chamber did not get involved in the woodworkers' strike and he felt a similar policy should be followed now.

Mr. Winsby said this was a national issue and a national service.

Jack Gerein said the chamber should have taken a stand on strikes involving a public service a long time ago. Having given postal workers the right to strike, there was nothing to do now but put up with the result.

"Things are going to get worse, before they get better," he said.

"If we put pressure on the government, where they have to settle at a higher level, then we lay the way for a national disaster."

Members felt the press was reflecting the true feeling of the people. "If there was great concern, it would reach the press," one member said.

Gordon Hirtle said if the strike is prolonged there is an increasing chance of a change in legislation which would prevent future strikes involving a public service.

Members agreed and decided to stay out of the matter now and when the strike is settled, make representation to the Canadian chamber for a policy statement for future strikes involving public service.

CHAMBER BRIEFS

Filming Color Of Regatta Due For Review Next Year

A Kelowna Chamber of Commerce-sponsored film on this year's Regatta appears unlikely, but something may be done next year. The chamber does not favor an amateur effort in the $800 cost bracket, nor a film, as suggested by the Regatta association, on one segment of the Regatta—the crowning of the Lady of the Lake. Members will investigate a city-chamber film for next year, with possibly financial help from the government.

Medical coverage for its members will be investigated by the chamber. Since the start of the provincial medicare plan, the medical care portion of the chamber's policy has been dropped from the group insurance plan. Temporary coverage has been obtained with MSA but there is some question of signed cards having reached Vancouver before the mail strike.

S. A. Hodge suggested the traffic committee be asked to look into the erection of sandwich-type sidewalk signs by service stations on downtown street corners. He said they were a traffic menace.

The traffic advisory committee ruled no exit road should be allowed to the new Arena Motors site on Highway 97, Mr. Dickens said. He suggested a business access road be constructed instead.

No mechanics on duty at Kelowna service stations on a Monday was discussed. Mr. Dickens said tourists with car trouble have to stay an extra day before repair work can be done. He said this is a result of the 40-hour week. The chamber will investigate to see if service stations would agree to having one mechanic available.

L. F. Schmidt said Vernon has no mechanics on duty Sunday, which started the discussion and exposed the Kelowna situation.

Accepted for chamber membership today was the Postill Lake Lodge, represented by Nick Krimmer.

Woman To Be Released

A Rutland woman, injured in a head-on collision on Black Mountain Road Wednesday, is to be discharged from the Kelowna General Hospital today.

Hennie Nieuwenhuz, 49, Frazer Road, was taken to hospital at 9 a.m. Wednesday with undetermined injuries.

Her nine-month-old son Giacomo Nieuwenhuz, lost his life in the accident.

The mother and child were the sole occupants of a small foreign-made car which was in collision with a logging truck. The car was demolished.

TWO PLEADED GUILTY

Two men pleaded guilty today in magistrate's court to charges of theft under $50.

John Virkutis of Vancouver was fined $150 or two months, George Day of Kelowna was fined $100 or 30 days.

RELAXATION TIME

A long-time resident and businessman in Kelowna, O. St. P. Aitkens, was honored Wednesday at the annual meeting of the Okanagan Investments Ltd., which he has served for nearly 60 years. Having helped finance many of the businesses and farms in the area, Mr. Aitkens' retirement from the Okanagan Investments board marks the end of an era for the company. He is seen here in the garden of his home at 423 Christleton Ave., where he lives with his wife Phyllis (Wollaston) and Marla, one of his four children. See story left. (Courier photo)

If Yankee Goes Home World Could Regret It

"Yankee Go Home". Signs containing these words and others with a similar meaning have appeared on placards, walls, hoarding and other convenient surfaces throughout the world in lands where American influence has been exercised during the past few years. Now, if the signs mean anything at all, it is probable that the writers and the shouters will see their wish realized.

While slogan painters were objecting to what they considered American meddling in their affairs, they were overlooking very great contributions expressed in financial aid and development assistance.

Now, there is a growing reason to think that the sentiment in the United States may persuade the Yankee to go home. The prospect is based on the effects the present agitated period of introspection may have on American policy. Beset by widespread criticism abroad, confused and deeply troubled by racial unrest and political violence at home, and divided by opposing views on the costly war in Vietnam, the American people may retreat into isolationism.

The prospect is no more than indefinite speculation at this time. But there are many signs that the Americans are growing weary of their role as the major world power and peace-keeper. That it is being discussed at all, however, should prompt again a consideration of the world scene if foreign lands were to be deprived of the strength they derive from an American presence and the use of American abilities as well as funds in efforts to improve their substandard living and approach self-sufficiency.

A retreat to "Fortress America" may seem unlikely. It is not, however, considered so impossible that discussion of it beyond the boundaries of the United States should be dismissed entirely out of hand.

Character The Objective

(Orillia, Ont., Packet and Times)

The increasing failure of our educational system is due principally to the incessant meddling of theorists who fail to grasp the true role of child education in our society. Invariably, these theorists concentrate their reforms on the school curriculum and the techniques of teaching it, at the expense of the disciplines which are perhaps of more lasting value to the individual pupil than any subject or teaching tactic. Curiously, today's so-called "educationalists" appear to have no concept of the really significant role the school plays in preparing children, fresh from the shelter of home, for the competitive adult world that lies ahead. It is the discipline of applying oneself to homework, of concentrating one's mental energies, of learning to live in friendly rivalry with a group of one's peers, which moulds the character of the growing pupil, and which is a more significant aspect of his development than the mere knowledge he acquires enroute.

It is this failure to grasp the essential role of education as a moulder of character and a builder of qualities and disciplines essential for survival in a competitive world, which mars the recent Hall committee recommendations. For the committee would eliminate what little remains of the character-building aspects of Ontario education; it would do away with all examinations, school punishments, class standings, report cards, and above all, it would abolish homework. In their place there would be a fuzzy mass of parent-teacher "counselling", of psychological quizzes and other parlor games to evaluate student abilities, and "experts" to advise on sexual ethics, drug addiction, and other progressive subjects.

This, of course, is the old "everybody passes" theory of education based on exposure of students to subjects without any measuring of their retention, nor of their individual performance. (Examinations, like class standings, are competitive, and therefore unpopular with the new generation of educational theorists.)

It must not be allowed to happen, of course; the human products of such an unexamined system could not possibly cope with the competitive pressures of an inherently competitive world. It is the pupil's character, quite as much as his intelligence, that our educational system must develop.

Something Untaxed

(The Printed Word)

In Ontario there is a provincial treasurer who recently expressed the view that instead of increasing the rate of the retail sales tax, it would be better to broaden the base. Practically everything that can be weighed or measured or is otherwise tangible is now subject to the retail sales tax. Mr. MacNaughton favors the addition of a tax on services.

Or at least some services. Lawyers sell their services and should be paid for them but it is not yet suggested that there be a sales tax on a lawyer's bill. Lawyers usually have to prepare mortgages, deeds and other such things and there are taxes for registration of legal documents having to do with property. But if a lawyer sits back in his chair and gives advice, as he does often, it is not likely that a tax on such advice would be feasible.

Mr. MacNaughton more likely is looking at such things as haircuts and, for the women, waves, permanent or impermanent. This has possibilities from the point of view of government because in enforcing such tax laws, a material number of additional employees would be required to audit all barbershops and beauty parlors.

Another source would be the "service" at the automobile service station. The automobile is already probably the most taxed and repeatedly taxed tangible movable in sight. The man who fixes a car is providing a service on which at present there is no retail sales tax in Ontario. But a new tire, a new spark plug or anything else in the way of parts is taxed. The oil is taxed several times on its way to the crankcase and the gasoline tax is, and has been for long years, a major source of provincial revenue.

There is a phase of motoring pleasure, so-called, that is not specially taxed and Mr. MacNaughton and his staff could look into the possibility of exacting a retail sales tax on fines. Supervision of on-street parking is surely a service. If services are going to be taxed, why exempt the parking ticket?

Churches offer salvation of the immortal soul. Is this a service possibly taxable? And fairer than a tax on the empty pew?

Growth Of ECM Trading May Aid Canada's Hopes

Development of the European Common Market may hurt Canadian trade with the six countries for a time, but eventual lower tariffs may prove profitable for Canadian business, James Nelson of the Ottawa staff of The Canadian Press reports after a month's study of the ECM countries.

By JAMES NELSON

BRUSSELS (CP) — Canadian foreign trade officials are looking for new ways to devise profitable contacts between Canadian and West European businessmen as the European Common Market reaches its full flowering this summer.

Development of the pact involving Belgium, France, Germany, Italy, Luxembourg and The Netherlands has meant raising the tariffs against Canadian goods in some markets, and lowering them in others.

Eventually — by 1972 — the tariff-cutting process resulting from the Kennedy Round of negotiations under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade will mean that the standard import duty against industrial products in the six countries will be lower than any of them were before the Common Market began.

Hardest hit so far has been the easy access Canadian goods have had for a long time in Germany, Belgium, Luxembourg and The Netherlands.

FRANCE DROPS RATE

Before 1957, when the Common Market's Treaty of Rome was signed, the French tariff was the highest in Europe, averaging 16.8 per cent. It subsequently was reduced to 14.4. The Italian tariff, which was 15.3, was cut to 13.8.

The German tariff, however, went up to 11 per cent from 8.3, and the tariff of the Benelux countries — the other three of the Six — rose to 11.2 from 8.5.

Under the Common Market program, all of these tariffs were brought to a common external tariff of 12.8 per cent when all internal tariffs among the Six were eliminated July 1.

But at the same time, the Kennedy Round cuts began to be implemented, the Common Market. The Six negotiated as a unit with the other world trading powers at Geneva when the massive across-the-board tariff cuts proposed by the late president John F. Kennedy were being bargained.

As a result, the 12.8-per-cent common external tariff will be reduced to 10.7 per cent. In addition to this, the Six have proposed making a second cut at the end of this year to help the United States balance-of-payments situation, if the U.S. will guarantee it will not erect some other tariff hurdle.

NOT YET SEALED

This bargain has not yet been sealed, but if it is achieved the common external tariff will drop to 9.6 per cent next Jan. 1.

According to present plans it would then continue to taper off to 8.6 per cent at the beginning of 1971, and to 7.5 per cent in 1972 — lower than any of the previous tariffs.

Canadian exports to Germany, Belgium and The Netherlands have suffered from the raising of the tariffs in recent years. The tariffs are important because of the transshipment of goods at the ports of Antwerp, Rotterdam, Hamburg and the like, for the rest of Europe.

As a consequence of the tariff-shifting that has been going on, and is still to be brought about, the competitive forces Canadian business must deal with in Europe have been changing.

Italian goods now enter France and Germany easily, and Italian home appliances have made big inroads. By the same token, French foodstuffs are being sold in Germany and Italy.

Since July 1 there has been no tariff on any goods moving among the Six, and the same tariffs apply in all these countries against goods coming in from outside.

This is the nub of the Common Market, insofar as tariffs are concerned. It will be many years, if not generations, however, before there is anything like a common market in Europe in marketing methods, tastes, or national needs.

The differences among Italian, French and German national economies, national idiosyncrasies and national aspirations will remain, despite the hope of the Common Market countries to work towards political union.

To some extent, this colors the ideal way to do business in each of the countries.

In Germany, for instance, many Canadian business enterprises have found it best to enter into joint ventures with German firms. This is the case with Aluminium Ltd., the international giant which owns Aluminium Co. of Canada and worldwide subsidiaries.

It is about to open a new rolling mill near Duesseldorf as a 50-50 deal with Vereinigte Aluminiumwerke AG, a state-owned enterprise.

German firms also are interested in going into joint-stock propositions with Canadian firms, and there is growing interest in individual German investment in Canadian land holdings or other endeavours. It was explained that the Germans are becoming more conscious of the value of having a foothold in another land, if war should ever come again to Germany.

In France, Canadian exporters are being told to work through French agents in order to market their products to the best advantage. The marketing system in France, with its larger, diverse territory, is many times more complex than in Germany.

ACCEPTANCE GROWS

And in Italy, there appears to be growing acceptance of the idea of licensing deals between Canadian manufacturers and Italian partners. Dealing with Italian officialdom in such matters as customs imports and taxes is frustrating, and — except for such industrial giants as Fiat and Alfa-Romeo — large segments of industry are based on the family firm, employing 10 persons or less.

A Canadian brasserie manufacturer, for instance, has had a market in Italy for part of its line of goods. But an Italian firm went to it recently and made a licensing deal by which the Italians would take over production of the most popular lines, and import those less popular. As a result, the Canadian firm is doing more business with less effort than before.

Meanwhile, Canada's dependence on the U.S. market for its sales has risen to 63 per cent of total exports from 52 four years ago.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Stroke Patient Should Be Active

By DR. JOSEPH G. MOLNER

It is hardly astonishing that the victim of a stroke becomes depressed or despondent. Such formerly simple matters as walking, combing his hair, buttoning his clothes, picking up the telephone become suddenly impossible or difficult. He feels helpless and sometimes useless and unloved — however wrong he may be in this feeling.

In the past, too often the patient was not only allowed but encouraged to go to bed and become a permanent invalid. In fairly recent years, the importance of keeping the patient active, within the limits of his capability, has become increasingly apparent.

Indeed, rehabilitation institutes start their programs for patients with strokes by skilled psychological conditioning, convincing the patients that they can improve if they will try in the right way.

In this regard, the family must do its share, too. If it takes a patient a long time to perform some simple act, the family must let him do it. It is unkindness to do for the patient what he can, with effort, do for himself. It may be quicker for the spouse to do the various chores of daily living, but it doesn't do the patient any good.

Let the patient struggle to turn the pages of a magazine or the knob of the door. Go to him, to help him.

Encourage him to try to do unlearned tasks, to do things he has not done before. The same general principle applies to any type of activity.

If speech is affected, as it sometimes is, take the time to listen while the patient struggles through the process of learning to talk again. The final result may still be imperfect, but improvement will come from painstaking effort. Special speech therapy helps in this respect.

And most especially do not jump to the cruel supposition that the patient's ability to think, listen, and feel has been lost just because he has difficulty in speaking or even comes out with the wrong word or a word of opposite meaning when he tries to express himself.

A stroke patient, unless those around him understand these facts, can become pitifully lonely. And the loneliness can make him give up trying to improve.

This and the preceding two columns are, of course, only a sketchy outline of how to help a stroke patient.

The important point I want to convey is that a good deal can be done for such patients and by them. If there is a rehabilitation institute in your city or a hospital in your vicinity which has a department doing rehabilitation of post-stroke patients, let them know you are interested. They will be glad to help you.

The sooner expert attention is given after a stroke, the better. But I have seen remarkable results in some cases of patients who had been considered totally bedridden for many months, and then, at last, found that they could do things for themselves.

STRANGE MOVIES

Dear Sir,

There is really no need for one to visit the wonderful setting of Kelowna, the tranquility of a beautiful lake, on the shores of a beautiful lake. And I think one should congratulate the amateur swimmers who seek to make the Aqua sports such a great success, and those in charge who spend many hours in getting together such a program.

Tuesday night was no exception as far as the program was concerned. A good attendance demonstrated the desire that residents and visitors have in seeing good clean water sports and other things associated with it. However there was more than a fly in Tuesday night's ointment. The tranquility of the scene of the Okanagan Pool, with the beautiful lake behind it, the picturesque mountains in the background and the setting sun over the water casting a brilliant golden streak across the rippling, was broken, very much so, by the raucous, jangling and scolding noise of the "Strange Movies", a group of four hippy like characters, unfortunately named as being a local group, who were supposed to be providing the entertainment.

Men, ladies and children were holding their ears to prevent the penetration of some of the sound, and the applause was no half-hearted as compared with the enthusiasm of the crowd for the water events that there was no doubt as to the undesirability of the noise. The divers, swimmers, transpolar artists, "strange movies", and a good job. Don't let us contaminate the lake any further, by the noise, the raucous, the scolding, the jangling, the raucous noise.

NEWS ANALYSIS

Czech Loyalty Not At Stake

By PHILIP DEANE,
Foreign Affairs Analyst

The Czech leaders have solemnly and repeatedly asserted that despite their liberalizing reforms they have no intention of deserting Russia's camp in world affairs, no intention of undoing the social revolution that was effected when communism took over, and it is these expressions of loyalty that the Russians find most alarming.

The Czechs have also asserted that they will not abandon the doctrine of a planned society or of an economy in which the most important sectors of production are owned by the state. They are loud and obviously sincere in their denunciations of U.S. policy in Vietnam, Cuba, Greece, Latin America and practically everywhere else. They sincerely reject capitalism as practiced in the U.S. They even reject parliamentary, multiparty democracy. They appear determined to leave the monopoly of power in the hands of the communist party, making the party, however, responsive to popular will by having the people elect representatives freely from among members of the communist party. These elected communists could lose their seats eventually to other communists.

Why should any of this alarm Russia? The answer is that Russia is the maintainer of a political creed which has long maintained that the desirable objectives of social and economic justice could be attained only through one specific political system, communism.

One could answer — as the Czechs no doubt will — that Russian communism itself has changed from its early days. They might even quote Mao's bitter accusation that Russia is becoming a bourgeois society — a provocative and indelicate thing to say to Russians.

But there is one respect in which the Russian communist system has not changed: it has been from the beginning a co-optive not an elective system. The man at the top, the Secretary General of the party, appoints and dismisses the officials at the basis of the pyramid. It is these officials who, by stages, elect him to Secretary General. The people are allowed to vote, but the only candidates are those chosen by the party.

This is being challenged more loudly than ever by technocrats and scientists who know that they owe no part of their intellectual excellence to guidance from the writings of Lenin. If Czechoslovakia makes a success of its reforms, Russia's rebellious intellectuals will be able to claim that all the desirable objectives of communism can be attained even without rigid control by a communist party not accountable to the people. This the Kremlin leaders fear.

Airship R-100 Flew Atlantic

By BOB BOWMAN

There was a spectacular development in aviation on Aug. 1, 1930, when the British airship R-100 arrived in Montreal. The trans-Atlantic flight from Cardington, England, took 78 hours and 52 minutes, or more than three days! Yet that was considered to be a marvellous achievement because the fastest ocean liners took nearly five days to make the Atlantic crossing. It seemed that airships would soon be carrying passengers and freight around the world.

The R-100 was a propeller-driven balloon, shaped like a long cigar. Britain was competing with Germany to establish routes across the Atlantic, and the trip to Montreal was carefully planned with the co-operation of the Canadian government. A mooring mast 200 feet high was built at St. Hubert's airport under the direction of Lieut.-Com. A. B. Pressy of the Royal Canadian Navy. It included an elevator to get passengers and supplies to and from the airship.

After the reception at Montreal, the R-100 flew over Ottawa, Toronto, Hamilton and Niagara Falls and caused great excitement. The flight over Ottawa took place at night and the airship was illuminated by searchlights from the parliament buildings.

The R-100 got back to Britain safely but that was the last time an airship crossed the Atlantic to Canada. For many years the mooring mast remained at St. Hubert's field, a nucleus to aviation including Trans-Canada Airlines which used the airfield until operations switched to Dorval.

Dirigibles like the R-100 were too vulnerable to the weather. The R-101 crashed on a flight to India two months after the R-100 crossing to Canada, and 46 people were killed including nearly every British authority on airship operation. The U.S.A. lost the Akron off the Atlantic coast, and airship experimentation came to an end when the giant Von Hindenburg from Germany burned while landing at Lakehurst, N.J., in 1937.

If this generation had more praying mothers, we'd have fewer juvenile revolutionaries roaming our streets.

Back when the early Salmonbellies thrilled thousands, lacrosse was really a man's game. Rousing. Rugged. And you know something? It hasn't changed any. Neither have the mighty men who play it. Or enjoy it. After a tough match, there's still ready for man style refreshment. And that means just one thing. Old Style refreshment.

Some call this 100 per cent ripple-striped cotton fabric a seersucker. In fact, it has all the never-say-die attributes of that reliable and well-known cotton, yet has an elegant distinction all its own. Here shirtmaker McMullen works the white taped wide-blue stripes horizontally in a sashed casual shirt dress with conspicuously low-placed pockets and accents it with six big white dome buttons from the V of the notched collar to the hipline. It also comes in a white and lemon and a white and pink stripe combination.

ANN LANDERS

Both Parents Needed To Bring Up Children

Dear Ann Landers: I have two friends—both widows. I like these women very much—until they get on the subject of their families. I am sick to death listening to them brag about their sons—how smart and successful they are, what great fathers they are to their children. Then they start in on their daughters-in-law. They are dumbbells—no family background, lazy, incompetent, can't do anything right. From there they go on to rave about their grandchildren. They are the most thoughtful, considerate, most popular kids in town. Everyone remarks on their beautiful manners.

Yesterday I stood it as long as I could. Finally I said, "Please tell me how come the children turned out so well when they had such lazy, dumb mothers?" They lit into me and insisted that the children had been trained by their fathers.

I have six wonderful grandchildren, Ann, and although my son is a fine person, I know his wife deserves 85 per cent of the credit. Please print my letter and comment.—FAIR IS FAIR

Dear Fair: When you see thoughtful, considerate, well-mannered children, it's a pretty safe assumption that both parents worked together to bring up those kids properly. The influence of the mother is usually the greatest, since she is the one who spends most of her time directing and disciplining the children in their formative years. I say your thinking is more nearly correct than your friends.

Dear Ann Landers: May I respond to "Old Starchy"—the R.N. who complained about the way patients treat people who staff hospitals? She said, "Illness does not give a patient the right to be abusive or downright nasty to those who's job it is to take care of them."

Fortunately, Old Starchy's viewpoint that "genuinely nice people remain nice in spite of pain and misery" is not shared by the majority of hospital people. Hospital administrative and medical staffs have long recognized that illness can alter one's personality remarkably. May I offer a paragraph from our Personnel Handbook?

"In working with the sick and injured, remember that you are dealing with persons in exceptional circumstances. Such a person is often upset by actions and events which he would not notice under normal circumstances. You will discover that many patients have fears and resentments which may manifest themselves in irritability, uncooperativeness and apprehensiveness. Remember what is routine for you may be a grave emergency in the minds of a patient or his family. Courtesy, kindness and, above all, patient understanding are the best weapons you have for overcoming these problems."

Old Starchy seems to have forgotten the creed of the health team. We are neither paragons of detached professionalism or impersonal tools of technology. We are simply people caring for people.—Mrs. N. L. Hadley MEMORIAL HOSPITAL, Hays, Kansas

Dear Mrs. N. L.: We need more people like you. Thanks for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: My mother and dad have been divorced for two years. Dad was mean to her and she is glad to be rid of him. He was mean to us kids, too, and we are happy he has moved away.

Mom is seeing a divorced man. He is good to her and acts like a father to my two younger brothers. The problem is that I am ashamed my parents are divorced and I've told my friends this man is my uncle. I hope Mom doesn't marry him but I don't know how to tell her. She is 43 years old and her life is just about over. Can you help me.—HAZEL EYES

Dear Hazel: You'd better set the record straight before your "uncle" turns out to be your stepdad. And another thing you'd better get straight is that a woman 43 does not have one foot in the grave. In a few years you and your brothers will be on your own and your mom will be alone. Wish her luck and be happy for her.

RUTLAND

On Sunday afternoon, July 28, the spacious shaded lawns of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Hay's home at Dickson's Flat, Okanagan Mission, were the scene of the annual Cedar Creek Fire Society picnic. Many local and visiting people brought their children to enjoy boat rides, running races, and loads of excellent food cooked under the careful eye of Mr. and Mrs. "Sandy" Rennie and Mrs. J. M. Burns. This old-fashioned picnic is becoming an annual "must" for visitors and residents alike. Any proceeds go to assist the Cedar Creek Fire Society, who heartily thank all those people who helped in so many ways to make the afternoon such a success.

POTENT OFFENCE

Eskimos Whip Montreal Als

MONTREAL (CP) — It's on to Toronto today and a Friday night contest against the Argonauts for coach Neil Armstrong and his powerful Edmonton Eskimos but it's back to the screening room for Kay Dalton of Montreal Alouettes.

Armstrong unfolded a powerful running and passing game as his Western Conference club knocked off Dalton's Easterners 27-10 in the first Canadian Football League's interlocking game of the season Wednesday night.

Dalton, on the other hand, watched what was once Montreal's biggest asset—the defence—crumble as the Eskimos ran roughshod over their opponents.

Edmonton's potent offence, made up of running backs Art Perkins, Jim Thomas and Don Lisbon found gaping holes as they combined for 230 yards rushing.

And, when the trio wasn't tearing up yards along the ground they found themselves in the clear for passes from veteran quarterback Frank Cosentino, where the three backs gained another 137 yards.

"Frank called a real good game and he mixed his plays real well," the jubilant Armstrong said after the game. "I'm really happy with that running game. I would have to say that our running attack is probably more potent than last year."

DEFENCE BLAMED

A short distance down the corridor Dalton blamed his defensive unit most of all for the loss. "I'm really disappointed in the defence and I can't really say what the problem is," Montreal coach said. "I'll have to take a look at the films first."

"They got 16 first downs rushing. That's pretty bad. They've (Edmonton) got some good backs but they're not that good."

Despite Dalton's opinion of Edmonton's running attack,

Perkins and Thomas scored touchdowns.

Perkins got the Edmonton attack going when he took a 14-yard pass from Cosentino from a touchdown in the first quarter and then crashed over from the two-yard line for his second touchdown of the night in the second.

Thomas who was credited with 97 yards rushing in 16 attempts, scored the other on a two-yard run in the third quarter.

KEMPFF MISSED TWO

Peter Kempff the former Alouette used his talented toe to kick field goals of 33 and 15 yards. He also was good on two of three convert attempts and earned a single point when his 27-yard field goal attempt was wide late in the game.

Quarterback Carroll Williams scored the lone Montreal touchdown in the fourth quarter on a 10-yard run. Jim Long converted and also booted a 32-yard field goal in the third quarter.

A 45-mile-an-hour wind blowing in from the southwest didn't bother the Edmonton offence as the Eskimos piled up 23 first downs compared with Montreal's 14.

The Eskimos had a total offence of 403 yards, 169 yards more than the Alouettes. Cosentino went the full distance for the Eskimos and he was good on nine of 17 passing attempts for 157 yards. Williams was 14 for 28 with one interception in the passing department for 169 yards.

Thomas caught three passes for 60 yards to go along with his 97 yards along the ground while Perkins gained 67 aerial yards and 79 yards along the ground. Lisbon another former Alouette, had 54 yards rushing and 10 passing.

The top rusher for Montreal was Ed Tomlin who had a net gain of 42 yards in eight carries. The top pass receiver was Dave Lewis with 81 yards on four catches to his credit.

CITY SHOOTERS BRING HOME MEDALS

Three members of the Kelowna Pistol Club returned home this week loaded with medals they had won at the annual Canadian National Handgun Championships in Winnipeg. The threesome were the first Kelowna team ever sent to the championships and were sponsored by the Pistol Club and the Kelowna and District Fish and Game Club. The three shooters are, from left to right, Bill Jurone, Ted Dickens and Udis Aras. The targets in the background are among those used in the championships. (Courier photo)

Jackson Wins Easily In Spite Of Weather

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP) — A strong wind made the Henley course choppy Wednesday but it did not stop Toronto sculler Roger Jackson from scoring an easy singles victory at the Canadian Olympic rowing trials.

"The wind was so bad . . . I almost lost our oar once and I kept thinking I might blow the race," said Jackson, a 24-year-old physical education student who combined with George Hunsford to win the pairs and Canada's only gold medal at the 1984 Olympics in Tokyo.

Jackson's victory over four other scullers and the St. Catharines Rowing Club win in the eight—were the highlights at the opening of the Olympic trials, held in conjunction with the Royal Canadian Henley Regatta.

Three Olympic trials will be held today with races in the doubles, pairs without cox and fours without cox. The selection committee will choose Canada's Olympic rowing team after today's races. The first Henley final will also be raced today.

The strong wind Wednesday made the sheltered Henley course so rough that the opening was postponed for an hour—the first delay of a Henley race since an electrical storm in 1980.

"A tailwind is cruddy," it throws you right off," said Jackson, who raced in the colors of the Vancouver Rowing Club.

Jackson was a good five lengths up on Leif Gottfredsen of Toronto Argonauts in the singles. He covered the 2,000-metre distance in seven minutes and 10 seconds, trading the lead three times with Gottfredsen before finally taking over at the 1,000-metre mark.

Gary White of Winnipeg finished third, Daryl Sturdy of Burnaby, B.C., fourth and Gary Newton of London, Ont., fifth.

The powerful St. Catharines eight, whose win was expected, finished in the fine time of 5:39.4. St. Catharines finished 2½ lengths ahead of the University of Western Ontario while the University of British Columbia, Canada's eight-oared representatives at the last three Olympics, was third.

The St. Catharines crew, stroked by Neil Campbell, had a deck lead on UBC after 10 strokes. Chomedy Rowing Club of Montreal was third with Western trailing.

The order stayed that way over the first 1,500 metres as St. Catharines steadily opened its lead. But as UBC tired, Western took over second with 300 metres to go. At the finish St. Catharines was rowing an easy 58 strokes a minute with Western at 40 and UBC hitting 42.

Seven qualifying heats for the Henley were rowed Wednesday before the trials started.

Thirty-five rowing organizations from Canada, the United States and Mexico are competing here.

Royals Turn Back Carls But Losers Protest Win

Kelowna Carlings made the Royal Anne Royals wait until the eighth inning Wednesday before giving up a 2-1 decision.

Now the Royals may have to wait another 24 hours to find out if the win will give them a lead in the best-of-five Senior B Softball semi-finals.

Here's how it happened.

Norbert Korthals, who went on to score the winning run in the bottom of the eighth, went from first to third on Ed Sehn's single. But the third base bag came loose on the play and Korthals and the bag slid by the original third base marker.

Carls' third-baseman Dennis Kranebetter tagged Korthals, still holding on to the bag, but head umpire Jim Greenlay ruled him safe.

Assistant coach John Ross notified the umpire the game was being played under protest from that point. Korthals later scampered home with winning run on Gib Loseth's single to left field.

A decision from the league is expected today.

Loseth played a prominent role in the Royals win, if it is a win, by limiting the Carls to three hits and driving in the winning run. Only a sixth-inning homer by Roy Hawkins into a stiff breeze sent the game into extra innings.

The Royals scored in the first inning on a single by Korthals, another single by Sehn and a wild pitch from losing pitcher Don Schmidt.

Schmidt and Loseth waged a pitching duel after the first inning flurry and until the eighth inning, looked strong enough to continue the battle all night.

In the end, Schmidt gave up seven hits, some of the borderline variety. He struck out three and walked three.

Loseth was in serious trouble in the third inning after a hit and an error put two men on bases with two out. Dennis Kranebetter drove a line drive to the deepest part of centre field but Korthals scurried back to make the catch at the fence.

In semi-final action today, the Willow Inn Willows meet the Rutland Rovers at King's Stadium. The Willows lead one game to none in the series.

Game time is 7:30 p.m.

BOSTON (AP) — Boston Red Sox have acquired Floyd Robinson for left-handed pinch hitting duties, and released veteran Norm Siebern, who was used primarily in the same capacity.

Robinson was purchased Wednesday night from Oakland Athletics. The 32-year-old outfielder has hit over .300 three times in his major league career, most recently in 1984, but has trailed off during the past few seasons.

Siebern, 35, has played for six major league clubs in an 11-year career and was picked up by Boston from San Francisco Giants on waivers last season.

Coleman Wears New Uniform For Game Against Hamilton

OTTAWA (CP) — Lovell Coleman whose chances of sticking with Ottawa Rough Riders seemed dim last week gets his first big test in a new uniform tonight when the Riders open their Eastern Football Conference schedule against Hamilton Tiger-Cats, the defending Grey Cup champions.

Coleman, acquired from Calgary Stampeders in an off-season trade, was reported to have been placed on waivers by his new employers, Montreal Alouettes were reported to be casting an eye on him.

Head coach Frank Clair refused comment on the report and Coleman will take a half-back position in the Rider offensive backfield against the Tiger-Cats.

Coleman, one of the better backs in Canadian football, is reported to be still bothered by a knee operation. He is one of 12 newcomers Clair has inserted in the Ottawa lineup over the 1987 team which finished second in the regular standings and lost to Hamilton in the Eastern playoffs.

The bumper rookie crop has Clair worried.

"Errors are part of the game when you have so many newcomers on the roster and they could ruin us," Clair said.

Among the newcomers to watch with the Riders are Vic Washington in the defensive backfield and Bill Van Burkleo, who also will play defence but who is tagged as backup quarterback to Russ Jackson.

The Riders expect Ticat quarterback Joe Zuger to try to take advantage of the Ottawa rookies by throwing to their side of the field.

Hamilton Coach Joe Restic has elevated some of last year's Tcats to more important positions this season, left vacant by tight end Ted Watkins, linebackers Smokey Stover and Ron Brewer, and by centre Gene Cepetelli.

Gord Christian has inherited the tight end spot, John Michaeluk and Herb Paterra the line-backing positions and Chet Miksza is the centre.

"I'm not at all satisfied with the way the old positions have been filled," said Restic and added that all the jobs are on the line against Ottawa.

Bailey Honored By Mounties For Helping Young People

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver sportsman Nat Bailey has $1,000,000, more than 1,000 employees, but only one pastime:

He enjoys helping young people have a good time.

After 40 years community service, Bailey has conceded to some recognition. Friday will be Nat Bailey night in Vancouver.

Mayor Tom Campbell will present a letter of recognition from the city and the Greater Vancouver Visitors Bureau has chosen him man of the month.

Assisted by Barbara Kelly, Miss Canada of 1967, sportsman and the youth of Vancouver will join celebrations at Capilano's 10,000-seat baseball stadium, home of Vancouver Mounties of the Pacific Coast League.

Bailey is president of the baseball club and a plaque in the stadium rotunda states: "Without his guidance, PCL baseball wouldn't have been possible in Vancouver."

A man with an infectious grin and love for sport, Bailey's fondness for the night of good times. In addition to the $25,000 he spends each year from his own pocket to keep the Mounties in Vancouver, he quietly dishes out another $50,000 annually for community projects.

He sponsors 27 minor baseball clubs in the Greater Vancouver area, plus a number of hockey, basketball, senior baseball and soccer clubs. Two pipe bands are also among his public services.

Born in St. Paul, Minn., Bailey was the son of a railroad-shop cafe operator. He never had a chance to get a formal education because he was too busy trying to sell papers and earn enough for his next meal.

His athletic career consisted mainly of developing a pitching arm that specialized in throwing peanuts high into the right field bleachers.

He hustled his peanuts and soft drink business into a mobile hot dog stand that put him into the drive-in business.

When he levelled the property for his first White Spot drive-in on South Granville St. in Vancouver, he remembers it cost $11. He gave the workman a cheque only to have the bank notify him he was seven dollars overdrawn. That was in 1928.

This year, he sold his food chain, catering service and realty firms to General Foods for several million dollars, and retained as a sideline a posh $2,000,000 motor hotel in suburban Burnaby.

General Foods asked Bailey to remain as chief consultant and president of the drive-in business. They also appointed him a vice-president of General Foods of Canada.

Vernon Drops League Protest

A spokesman for the Vernon Luckies of the Okanagan Mainline Baseball League said Wednesday the club will drop its protest over the Kelowna Labatts apparent forfeiture of the last Sunday's encounter.

The game, scheduled to be the first of a semi-final series between the clubs, will be played this Sunday in Vernon.

Kelowna failed to appear Sunday causing Vernon to request the forfeiture and claiming an opening game win. Labatts defended they had insufficient notice to play the game as they were informed the morning of the game.

Vernon decided to withdraw its request after talking with league officials Wednesday.

Spokesman for the Labatts, manager Jack Burton, said the club would have pulled out of the series had they been forced to give up the contest.

Men Feel Confident

STOCKHOLM (CP) — The Canadian track and field team hopes it won't have to depend on its women again when it competes in the big London meet that ended here Wednesday.

The Canadian men's team lost to Sweden 113-93 in a two-day meet that ended here Wednesday.

At Oslo, the first stop on their European tour, they were beaten 113-98 by the Norwegians in a meet that ended July 24.

The women's squad, however, defeated their Swedish hosts 63-50 and beat Norway 72-44.

Tigers Near Pennant; McLain Brilliant Again

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Denny McLain and the Detroit Tigers are showing nothing but their heels to nine American League laggards. But there's still plenty of catch-up left in the also-rans when they tangle with each other.

While the front-running Tigers loped past Washington Senators 4-0 Wednesday night for McLain's 21st victory of the season, Oakland Athletics, Chicago White Sox and New York Yankees were winning games on ninth-inning comebacks.

Oakland completed a double-header sweep by overtaking California Angels 4-3 on Ted Kubiak's two-run triple in the ninth after winning the opener 4-1 on a three-run homer by Mike Herschberger in the eighth.

The White Sox spotted Minnesota an 8-1 lead, then fought back behind an 18-hit attack and finally floored the Twins 12-6 with six runs in the ninth. The Yankees pushed over five unearned runs with two out in the ninth for a 7-3 triumph over Boston Red Sox.

TRIBE TRIMMED

Baltimore trimmed Cleveland Indians 4-2 on Elrod Hendricks' two-run homer in another game. McLain, 21-3, scattered four hits and struck out nine as Detroit maintained its seven-game spread over second-place Baltimore.

GARY BELL... blows lead

Dick McAuliffe and Al Kaline set the offensive pace for the Tigers. McAuliffe cracked a single, two doubles and his 14th homer and scored all the runs. Kaline contributed two doubles, a single and two RBIs.

In the nightcap at Oakland the Athletics fell behind 3-1 in the seventh when California's Tom Satriano and Jim Gregosi John Donaldson's infield hit scored Rick Monday in the bottom of the seventh, but Oakland still was one run down with one slapped run-scoring singles, out in the ninth.

Then Jim Gosger walked and Bert Campaneris singled, chasing reliever Marty Pattin, and Kubiak greeted Angels' ace Jim McGlothlin with a drive off the centre-field fence, scoring the tying and winning runs.

HIT SECOND HOMER

Herschberger unloaded his second homer of the year following a walk and Sal Bando's single in the eighth inning of the twilight game.

Minnesota left the White Sox on the ropes with a six-run volley in the fourth inning, but they bounced back with four in the sixth and went into the ninth trailing 8-6.

Southpaw Ron Perranoski got the first out, but Tommy Davis, Duane Josephson, Leon Wagner and Ken Berry singled for two runs. After a ground out and intentional walk filled the bases, Tim Cullen laced a three-run double off Al Worthington and scored on Woody Held's single, nailing the Sox's fifth victory in their last six starts.

Ken Harrelson drove in two runs with a single and his 25th homer, helping Boston's Gary Bell take a 3-2 lead over the Yankees into the ninth.

But Horace Clarke doubled home two runs after a two-out and first baseman George Scott filled the bases, Bill Robinson punched a run-scoring single and first baseman George Scott booted Joe Pepitone's grounder as two more Yankees crossed the plate.

Hendrick's two-run homer off Sonny Siebert in the sixth inning gave the Orioles a 3-2 edge at Cleveland and they added an insurance run in the ninth on relief pitcher Gene Brabender's bases-loaded sacrifice fly. Brabender rescued winner Tom Phoebus from an eighth inning jam and stopped the Indians in the ninth.

Cardinals Continue Winning; Defeat Philadelphia Phillies 3-2

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

St. Louis Cardinals began July with a 5-1 victory over Los Angeles Dodgers and a 6½-game lead over second-place Atlanta Braves.

They ended it Wednesday night with a 3-2 triumph over Philadelphia Phillies and an almost insurmountable 14½-game bulge over runner-up Cincinnati Reds in the National League race.

The Cardinals ripped off 24 victories in 30 games and they didn't care how they did it.

Take Wednesday night's game.

Lou Brock singled and stole second in the seventh inning. Julian Javier bunted and pitcher Woody Fryman threw him out, with Brock going to third. But Brock didn't stop there, he kept right on running and beat first baseman Bill White's throw home for what proved to be the winning run.

Atlanta edged New York Mets 3-2, Cincinnati trounced Pittsburgh 8-2 and then was walked 10-1 by the Pirates, Chicago Cubs topped Houston Astros 6-1 and Los Angeles tripped San Francisco Giants 6-3 in other games.

Mike Shannon doubled in the first St. Louis run and Brock singled home the other. Clay Darymple's sacrifice fly and Richie Allen's single produced the runs for the Phillies, who have lost four straight and 15 of the last 18.

IT WAS ALL AARON

It was all Hank Aaron in Atlanta's victory as the Braves slugger doubled home his club's first two runs and then snapped a 2-2 tie with an RBI single.

Cincinnati scored four runs in the first inning on singles by Pete Rose, Vada Pinson and Tony Perez, Johnny Bench's double and an error to win the first game.

Pittsburgh came back to take the nightcap with a 16-hit attack and the second triple play in the major leagues in two days.

After Lee May and Perez walked in the fourth inning, Tommy Helms lined to shortstop Gene Alley. Alley threw to second baseman Bill Mazeroski, doubling up May, and Mazeroski threw to first to get Perez. Ron Hansen of Washington Senators made an unassisted triple play Tuesday night against Cleveland Indians in the American League.

Roberto Clemente hit a two-run homer and first baseman Donn Clendenon a solo shot and a triple to pace Pittsburgh's attack.

The Cubs continued their heavy hitting by clouting four homers. Ernie Banks hit two and now has 490 in his career. Billy Williams and Jim Hickman smacked the others.

Trailing 3-1 in the eighth, the Dodgers rallied for five runs on two hits and a series of Giant misplays.

Two runs scored when Joe Gibbon uncorked a bases-loaded wild pitch and catcher Dick Dietz made a wild throw back to the plate, and Frank Linzy forced home the go-ahead run with a bases-loaded walk to Bob Bailey.

Three Teams Still Alive

MONCTON (CP) — Three teams have been eliminated from competition following three days of play in the Canadian junior baseball championships.

Only Sarnia, Ont., Drawbridge, with a 2-0 record, Fredericton Vikings, 2-1, and Edmonton Blue Willow Angels, 3-1, remain in contention as play resumes in the double-knockout series today.

Edmonton eliminated Newfoundland Terra Novas by a 4-2 score Wednesday afternoon and returned in an evening game to edge Moncton Cubs 3-2, eliminating the host club.

In a night game, Sarnia batted in five runs in the first inning to trounce Fredericton 11-3. Starting pitcher Mark Fisher of Sarnia hurled hitless ball for six innings before being taken out to rest his arm.

His team-mates got to three Fredericton pitchers for 10 hits, including a triple, and a homer in the first by Mike Bentien.

Fisher struck out 10 batters and allowed only seven hits. Moncton's Brian Erace was charged with the loss.

Newfoundland outlasted Edmonton 8-5, but loose fielding contributed to their loss at the hands of the Angels. Only one of the four runs scored against Newfoundland southpaw Brian Vincent was earned.

The Angels picked up two runs in the opening inning, one in the fifth and one in the seventh. The Terra Novas scored in the second and seventh.

CLAUDE PROVOST... who hit first

Assault Trial Continues

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The question of who got hit first was argued Wednesday as the assault trial of former coach Toe Blake and winger Claude Provost of Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League opened in Superior Court.

Deputy District Attorney Bart Goldman alleged to the jury in his opening statement that Blake hit Bernie Weisman, a fan, with a hockey stick.

The defence claimed that Weisman, 39, jumped into the players' box and hit Blake on the head with his fist.

The fight is alleged to have occurred during a game last Nov. 19 between the Canadiens and Los Angeles Kings here. The Kings won 4-2.

Blake, 55, and Provost, 34, are charged with assault with a deadly weapon — a hockey stick.

The prosecution claims that Weisman was knocked down and beaten by several Canadiens, including Provost.

HECKLED CANADIENS

Goldman said Weisman was heckling the visitors from a third-row seat and Blake finally invited Weisman to "come on down, fat mouth, and see what you get."

Margaret Ottens, the first prosecution witness, testified that Blake was the first to become violent, and that one of his blows aimed at the fan hit her in the jaw.

Weisman and Mrs. Ottens have filed a $655,000 civil damage suit against the two defendants.

Defence lawyer Elmer Docken told the jury of eight men and four women that Weisman had engaged in "loud, obnoxious heckling" throughout the game.

Docken claimed the team and Blake restrained themselves until Weisman yelled a "particularly uncomplimentary remark" at Blake.

After 19 years as coach, Blake retired last May and now is an executive with the Canadiens.

Mrs. Ottens is scheduled to resume her testimony today.

Moe Norman Among Golfers Shooting For Willow Classic

CALGARY (CP) — Moe Norman have already qualified because of previous golf tour victories. Norman won the Saskatchewan Open.

The veteran professional from Gilford, Ont., first tasted big-time golf victory when he won the Canadian Amateur title at the Calgary Country Club in 1955.

He returned in 1965 and won the Alberta Open before claiming the Canadian Professional Golfers' Association crown the same year at Willow Park.

Norman, the leading money winner of the Canadian golf tour this year, returned Tuesday and has since been busily shooting practice rounds on the par-11 course in preparation for the $20,000 Willow Park classic which starts Friday and which he last won in 1966.

Last year Norman just missed winning the Willow Park tournament, losing to Billy Wright Jr. of Edmonton on an extra hole.

A record number of 77 golfers has entered the 54-hole affair this year, among them Wright, Wilf Homenuik of Winnipeg, winner of the Millar tournament in Georgetown, Ont., and Wayne Vollmer of Vancouver, Alberta Open winner.

The tournament which finishes Sunday will pay $3,000 to the winner. Last year, the championship was worth $2,000 but prize money has been increased to attract more top talent.

For some of the golfers, victory in the tournament which is the seventh stop on the Canadian golf tour championships scheduled for Woodbridge, Ont., Sept. 13-15.

Norman, Homenuik and Vollmer.

Mounties Lose Again

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Vancouver Mounties lost their second straight game to Portland Beavers 5-3 in Vancouver Wednesday evening as Bill Horner pitched a seven hitter for the Beavers.

A two-run homer by Chuck Cottler in the second inning and a solo blast by teammate Lou Piniella in the sixth gave Portland its success over Vancouver.

Elsewhere, the Hawaii Islanders swept a doubleheader from the Angels 6-4 and 5-1 in Seattle and climbed into second place in the western division.

In other games, the Oilers blanked Phoenix 1-0 in Tulsa; Tacoma Cubs lost 6-2 to Indians in Spokane and the San Diego Padres downed the 88ers 3-1 in Oklahoma City.

A game between the Bears and Indianapolis in Denver was rained out.

Tulsa's triumph over Phoenix, cemented by the six-hit pitching of veteran right-hander Pete Mikkelsen, increased their lead in the eastern division to five games over Phoenix while San Diego lags 7½ games back in third position; Indianapolis, in fourth spot, has a 1½ game lead on Denver, 19 games behind the leader, Oklahoma City is in last place, an even 20 games behind.

In the western division, Spokane retained a 9½ game lead over Houston who displaced Seattle as runnerup. Seattle is 11 games behind and threatened by fourth place Portland, half a game back of the Angels.

Tacoma and last place Vancouver Mounties have little hope of catching the leader; the Cubs are 18 games behind the Indians and are leading the Mounties by a single game.

TRUDEAUMANIA WINNING

Quebec Libre Uproar Fades

MONTREAL (CP)—The echo of French President de Gaulle's "vive le Quebec libre" uproar has faded in the national unity upsurge of Trudeauism and serious splits among Quebec separatists.

Use by the president of the separatist slogan in a speech at Montreal's city hall a year ago today gave a solid boost to minority groups advocating that the province separate from the remainder of Canada and establish an independent or quasi-independent state.

But that boost appears to have peaked.

In its rippling wake, widespread reaction at all political levels seems to be pulling the rug out from under the separatists whose membership in three major groups is said to be about 33,000.

Separatist movements sprang to life in the 1960s amid demands by French-Canadians for better treatment under the Canadian constitution. There are about 4,300,000 French-Canadians living in Quebec, more than 80 per cent of the provincial population and about 80 per cent of Canada's French-language population.

Election of a majority Liberal government last month under Prime Minister Trudeau, a French-Canadian and staunch advocate of "one-Canada" federalism, has shifted the focus of attention to Ottawa.

The Liberal federalism sweep, coupled with apparent public anger over riots by separatist elements at Montreal's St. Jean Baptiste Day parade on the eve of the June 23 election, is causing some shakeup among separatist elements.

CALL HIM 'TRAITOR'
St. Jean Baptiste is Quebec province's patron saint. Those demonstrating at the annual parade said they were protesting Mr. Trudeau's presence as guest of honor on the reviewing stand. They called him a traitor to their pro-Quebec cause.

A political high point in the post-de Gaulle separatist enthusiasm was the resignation of influential Rene Levesque from the Quebec Liberal party, which last October went on record as "against separatism in all its forms."

Mr. Levesque, a provincial cabinet minister during the days of the quiet revolution, founded the Mouvement Souverainete-Association to press for an independent Quebec linked in an economic union with the rest of Canada and to work for unity of all Quebec separatist groups.

But after the St. Jean Baptiste Day violence he denounced the riots and suspended merger negotiations with the province's largest separatist party, the 13,000-member Rassemblement

pour l'indépendance nationale.
The other group affected is the Rassemblement National, with 12,000 members the second largest in Quebec.

Within the MSA itself cracks of disunity have appeared.
Francis Aquin, like Mr. Levesque an independent member of the Quebec legislature and a former Liberal, has clashed openly with his leader by demanding a rigid policy of French unilingualism for the province.

Pierre Bourgault, RIN leader, said last week he is pessimistic about the chances of unifying separatist forces soon and added that without such unity there is little hope for an independent Quebec.

Quebec's Liberal party, which officially proclaimed a policy of special status for the province within Confederation following the Levesque schism, has decided to re-examine its position following the decisive election victory by Mr. Trudeau, whose Liberals took 56 of 74 seats in Quebec.

HAVE OTHER PROBLEMS
Party leader Jean Lesage is currently surveying party followers to determine how strongly they feel about constitutional issues. He indicated after early results last weekend that there is a strong anti-separatist sentiment in the party and that followers are mainly concerned with bread-and-butter economic problems.

Yet, Quebec-France relations continue close. Premier Daniel Johnson's ruling Union-Nationale government, in power since June, 1966, pushed ahead with extending international contacts at French-language educational conferences in Gabon and Paris earlier this year, each time with the disapproval of the federal government.

De Gaulle was seen as a pro-vocateur behind attempts to have Quebec gradually receive the status of an independent national state in a family of Frenchlanguage states.

Tension and friction between Ottawa and Paris, and at the same time between Ottawa and Quebec, over the de Gaulle visit last year was touched off by an official Canadian government reprimand of the French president for meddling in the internal affairs of Canada. Gen. de Gaulle subsequently cancelled his planned trip to Ottawa, scheduled after his tour of Expo 67.

Parallel tensions surfaced over the Gabon and Paris meetings of French-language education ministers, with the federal government taking the view that invitations should have been extended to Ottawa rather than Quebec and that delegations to the conferences should have been with Canadian, not only Quebec, support.

WORLD BRIEFS

TOURISTS MUST EAT
NAIROBI (AP)—Nairobi airport has a new $600,000 restaurant complex with a 15,000-meal-a-day capacity to cope with Kenya's tourist boom.
President Jomo Kenyatta said about 1,000,000 travellers will pass through the terminal this year.

IS POPULAR REFUGEE
ISTANBUL (AP)—Police report that applications for political asylum in Turkey have been received from 11 refugees from European Communist countries—seven Romanians, two East Germans, a Bulgarian and a Soviet citizen of Armenian decent.

SIGN TRADE PACT
BUCHAREST (AP)—Romania and Tunisia have concluded an agreement under which Tunisia will obtain help in developing mines and processing plants for phosphates and non-ferrous metals. Romania will receive deliveries of Tunisian mine products.

RABBITS TAKE OVER
MOSCOW (AP)—Several thousand rabbits trooped

through the streets of towns on Siberia's Kamchatka Peninsula recently. At Okhotsk, on the coast, they ravenously chewed up seaweed then moved back to the tundra in a disciplined herd.
Specialists said the demonstration was caused by acute hunger.

RECEIVES AWARD
VIA REGGIO, Italy (AP)— Novelist Libero Bigiarelli, 62, has been awarded the Viareggio prize of $4,800 for his book "The Public Counterfigure," after author Italy Calvino rejected the award as devoid of significance.
Novelist Alberto Bevilacqua recently won the Strega award after four finalists withdrew to protest "bourgeois" literary circles.

OFF THE RECORD
ROME (AP)—The 630-member Italian Chamber of Deputies has quietly done away with the register where for more than 20 years all were required to sign in for sessions. Deputies had often accused each other of sneaking in absent friends or sneaking in and leaving promptly on other business.

Ottawa May Have Plugged Hole Through Which U.S. Gold Leaked

OTTAWA (CP)—The finance department believes it has plugged the last hole by which the United States' dollar drain might flow through Canada to other parts of the world.

Finance Minister Benson announced this week in a statement a set of guidelines to be followed by insurance, trust and mortgage loan, sales finance, investment, and small loan companies, mutual funds, pension funds, and the like.

While asking for voluntary adherence, the minister's announcement amounts to an order that those non-bank institutions should, like the banks, ensure that they are not being used as an escape from the U.S. restraints on U.S. dollar movements abroad.

The chartered banks have been under such guidelines since May 3, and the finance department gets regular reports from them on their performance. It is asking "a couple of hundred" of the non-bank institutions to start reporting in similar fashion.

The finance department does not know exactly how much money is involved. Its statistics on the non-bank institutions are sketchy—so limited that they are not made public because they may be inaccurate.

TOTAL FOREIGN ASSETS
In the case of the chartered banks, they had net foreign assets as of two weeks ago amounting to $196,000,000, but this includes both U.S. and overseas accounts.

Bank of Canada figures show that at the end of April, the chartered banks had U.S. dollar liabilities to foreign residents totalling $2,618,000,000, of which $751,000,000 was for continental Europe.

But against these liabilities, the banks had U.S. dollar foreign assets totalling $3,768,000,000, of which $221,000,000 was on continental European account.

The figures for continental Europe, however, include assets and liabilities of the Bank for International Settlements and the European Coal and Steel Community. These are multinational organizations sponsored by governments, not conducting the kind of operations against which the U.S. controls are aimed.

The story of the Canadian guidelines dates from Jan. 1, this year, when President Johnson announced strict controls to stop the flow of U.S. funds abroad and bring home U.S. corporation profits from overseas.

PLEDGE TO HELP
To gain an exception from the controls, Ottawa promised Washington to ensure that Canadian financial institutions are not used as an escape-hatch from them.

The chartered banks were the first to be covered. If they wished, they could transfer funds in hundreds of millions of dollars in a few hours. But they agreed not to do so. And the inspector-general of banks along with the Bank of Canada had ways to check their performance.

The case of the non-bank financial institutions was more difficult.

The finance department believes that only a few of them are engaged in international transactions. Of the 200 or so firms it will ask for reports, it expects the continuing figure to be whittled down to a handful of major concerns.

BASEBALL STARS
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Batting—Dick McAuliffe, Detroit Tigers, smacked his 14th home run, two doubles and a single and scored all the runs in a 4-0 victory over Washington Senators.

Pitching—Denny McLain, Tigers, blanked the Senators on four hits and struck out nine for his 21st victory against only three losses.

Opening lead—queen of spades.

The safety finesse is a play forced upon declarer by the special circumstances with which he is faced. In order to insure his contract, declarer takes a finesse he would ordinarily not take.

West leads the queen of spades and East signals with the eight. South ducks because he is anxious to prevent East's king from becoming an entry card. By refusing the trick South breaks a vital line of communication between the defenders which they would otherwise have.

West leads another spade which declarer wins with the ace. It is obvious that trumps must now be tackled, so South plays a low heart to the ace and a low heart back. East follows with the 10 and South must decide whether to play the king or the jack.

Ordinarily, missing four to the queen, South would play for the drop. Mathematically, cashing the A-K is more likely to be successful in the long run than the finesse.

But this generality must not be followed blindly. In this case, for example, the finesse is mandatory. The problem is not so much to guess where the queen is located as it is to make sure of the contract.

The finesse guarantees the contract. Assume the worst happens and the finesse loses to the queen. There is then no East-West combination of cards possible to defeat the contract. With West on lead the king of clubs is in no danger and South is sure of at least 10 tricks.

If declarer follows the general rule of playing for the drop in the present hand, he goes down. As soon as East gets in with the queen of trumps, he shifts to a club and South is defeated.

The safety finesse pays exceptionally good dividends in the actual deal when South winds up making 12 tricks instead of nine.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW
Friday's stellar influences will be quite similar to today's, which means: Stick to routine and don't let others inveigle you into fancy-sounding ventures—especially if an outlay of money is involved.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY
If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates fine achievement in this new year of your life. Job and/or business projects started in the immediate present should culminate happily by the end of November and your financial status, which may have been at something of a "quag" for the past couple of months, should show a definite uptrend between the 15th of this month and October 31st. Your next good cycles along material lines will include the first two weeks of January, the last two of February, the latter halves of March and May and the entire month of June. Do avoid extravagance during late September and throughout October, however; also in late December when you may be faced with some unexpected expenses.

This October and January, April, May and June of next year promise to be highly propitious months for travel; will also be marked by enlivening social activities. You should experience unusual harmony in domestic circles for most of the year ahead—especially if you are careful to avoid friction in mid-October and mid-January. Most auspicious months for romance: October, next April and June.

Canadian Bishops Submit Rival Plans At Meeting

LONDON (CP) — Two Canadian bishops have submitted rival plans at the Lambeth conference of bishops for a central structure to unify Anglican churches around the world.

Rt. Rev. Ralph S. Dean, Bishop of Cariboo, B.C., and episcopal secretary to the gathering of world Anglican leaders now meeting here, told reporters Wednesday his plan for a central organization is being discussed in committee along with that of Rt. Rev. George Luxton, Bishop of Huron, Ont.

Bishop Dean said he and the Ontario prelate are "both seeking the same ends, but we differ about the means."

Bishop Luxton, who has pursued the aim of a central structure since the 1963 Anglican congress in Toronto, recommended such a plan in principle, said he wants the Lambeth conferences, now held every 10 years, to be replaced by more frequent Anglican congresses which would in turn elect a smaller consultative council.

REJECTS CONGRESSES

Bishop Dean said such congresses would be unwieldy and expensive. He would like to see an Anglican consultative council of 51 elected members to represent the worldwide communion. Seventeen seats would be held by bishops, 17 by other members of the clergy and 17 by the laity.

The lay section want it to meet every year and would also want an executive committee which could meet on call, he said Wednesday, as his plan was being studied by a subcommittee.

"It would cost a lot of money, but I keep trying to remind the church you can't do this for nothing."

In answer to a question he agreed the scheme would mean the 19 Anglican primates would lose some of their sovereignty. But he said: "Why can't there be some archbishops who are representatives of other archbishops, some clergy who are representative of other clergy?"

The subcommittee concerned, which also includes Rt. Rev. W. L. Wright, Archbishop of Algoma, Ont., will report on the schemes Friday to the over-all section dealing with church unity.

SENSITIVE AREA

Bishop Dean said he thinks the question of an inter-Anglican structure, for which Canadian and U.S. bishops have been pressing strongly since the Toronto congress, would turn out to be one of the most sensitive areas of discussion in this Lambeth conference.

Fire Hazard Shuts Down Logging Camps On Island

VICTORIA (CP) — Vancouver Island logging camps have started to shut down forest operations after two days of rising temperatures and lower humidity readings.

The fire hazard, however, is not regarded as critical by the British Columbia Forest Service.

"We don't have any serious fires burning but hikers and campers should be careful with their fires," a forest service spokesman said Tuesday.

All logging camps are now operating on an automatic closure formula based on local temperatures and humidity. This restricts logging to early morning hours when humidity is higher. Some operations are completely shut down.

Macmillan Blended shut down its Sproat Lake division Tuesday and Crown Zellerbach was to close its Nitinat operation west of Duncan today. Its Beaver Cove operation went on early shifts Tuesday.

Foresters, however, say it will take another week or 10 days of hot weather before the situation becomes serious on Vancouver Island. There is no weather problem in the rest of B.C.

rence, 16, of Oneonta, N.Y., whose cancerous liver was removed and replaced with a transplant, of the infection of other organs, at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital. The operation took place June 17.

Pope's Edict Won't Change

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pope Paul's birth control edict is not expected to have significant impact on the U.S. government's broad and costly family planning programs, say informed sources in the department of health, education and welfare.

Past experience has shown that most poor women, including Roman Catholics, are eager to obtain means of birth control, these sources say.

Students Present Proposals To Victoria U. Faculty

VICTORIA (CP) — University of Victoria faculty committees were presented this week with specific student proposals for re-making university life.

They include an end to compulsory courses, abolition of term-end exams, an increase in the discretionary power of professors, and opening up of the university government to public scrutiny and student participation.

Another sensitive area, Bishop Dean indicated, would be the ordination of women, strongly urged by the Archbishop of York last Saturday. An informant said the subcommittee discussing this controversial matter is expected to deliver a report this week strongly in favor of ordaining women.

Chairman of this subcommittee is the Bishop of Nova Scotia, Rt. Rev. William W. Davis, and the members include four English bishops, one Irish, three American, one West African and one from the Sudan.

of a group of professors who would act as counsellors and advise them on how to plan their course of studies.

In the area of examinations and evaluation, students say professors should evaluate students on the basis of research papers and class participation rather than by exams.

University government should be revamped, the students say and department heads should be elected from among the faculty for three - year periods, "subject to ratification by the students."

The senate should be composed of half faculty and half students, and the board of governors should be an economic advisory body with no government appointees the proposal said.

AID RAIDERS

A drive to raise $2,000,000 has been started in Baghdad, Iraq, to aid anti-Israeli commandos.

Shrum Confirms Resignations

BURNABY, B.C. (CP) — Chancellor Gordon Shrum of Simon Fraser University announced Tuesday that Dr. Patrick McTaggart-Cowan has resigned as SFU president—and he has his temporary replacement, Dr. Archibald MacPherson.

The resignations are the latest development in a continuing administrative crisis at the three-year-old campus, sparked by the censure of the University by the Canadian Association of University Teachers in May.

Mr. Shrum said Dr. McTaggart-Cowan resigned May 31, the day the university's board of governors placed him on indefinite leave of absence. Asked why it had not been announced earlier, Dr. Shrum said there had been a misunderstanding. He declined further comment, but other sources said the governors did not think he had formally quit at the May 31 meeting.

Dr. McPherson's resignation, effective today, was submitted to the board Monday night. The acting president—second since Dr. McTaggart-Cowan went on leave—said he had come to the end of the term he was prepared to serve and would not stay even if a replacement could not be found.

NO APPEALMENT

PEAS POTPAGE, England (CP) — That's the approved spelling of this Sussex village, but a phantom sign writer doesn't like it and he has kept up a six-year campaign by adding an "E" to Peas on all signs in the community. Some villagers say old maps and documents show the name originally was spelled Pease, but the parish council insists the new spelling be adopted.
